ARC Hosts African American History Fair

On February 23, 2010, Alternative Rehabilitation Communities (ARC) hosted its Fifteenth Annual African American History Fair at the Crispus Attucks Community Center in York.

Students from each of ARC's nine facilities, as well as more than 50 invited guests, attended this year's program.

The fair is traditionally the biggest event of the school year for ARC's students and staff, as they spend considerable time researching, learning and preparing for the program.

Approximately 125

ARC students actively participated in this year's fair by entering projects in one of six categories: 1) Exhibit, 2) Art, 3) Visual Arts, 4) Research, 5) Dramatic Performance, and 6) Musical/Dance Performance. Judges were chosen from among the invited guest and medals were awarded to the students whose projects received the highest scores. Projects from the Exhibit, Art, Visual Arts, and Research categories were prominently displayed throughout the hall for students and guests to review at their leisure. The projects displayed the students' creative abilities, while also being informative and educational, as the projects highlighted both pioneers and current African American leaders in various disciplines – from science to politics to education to athletics.

The day started with a Welcome from ARC's CEO, Daniel Elby. Mr. Elby explained the significance of the annual event to his students, not only in recognition of Black History Month, but also in developing critical competencies.

"Participation in this event helps increase their [the students] self-esteem and helps them realize that they can learn and achieve, despite prior experiences".

After two musical selections by ARC's student gospel chorus, the competition in the Dramatic Performance and Musical/Dance Performance categories began. In total, there were twenty-five dramatic performances (skits, monologues and poems) and five musical performances presented for the audiences' entertainment. The students showed incredible courage and talent as they performed on stage in front of a packed house. Following lunch, which featured many traditional African American dishes, the students participated in African American History Jeopardy, as well as several other educational activities in smaller break-out groups.

Educational Aftercare & Reintegration Toolkit

On-line Training Course for Juvenile Justice Professionals

The Education Law Center (ELC) is offering a new on-line training course based on its Educational Aftercare & Reintegration Toolkit for Juvenile Justice Professionals. Many juvenile justice professionals across Pennsylvania have already attended in-person trainings based on this Toolkit. Thanks to support from the John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation, ELC is now able to offer an on-line version of this training to juvenile justice professionals who are new to the field or who are unable to attend a live training.

The on-line training covers a wide variety of issues that impact youth involved in the delinquency system, include school enrollment, attendance, truancy, school discipline, and special education issues. The course includes ten quizzes which allow the user to interact with the course material.

This training course is free. There are no tuition fees or registration costs.

You will receive four (4) credit hours upon completion of the course. If you want to receive the credit hours for this course, you must complete the entire course, including all the quizzes. At the end of the course, you will be asked to provide an e-mail address for your department's training coordinator, your chief, your supervisor, or other appropriate person to whom notification of your completion of the course should be sent.

WHAT JUVENILE PROBATION OFFICERS ARE SAYING ABOUT THIS ON-LINE COURSE:

The training material was great. As a school-based juvenile probation officer, it was good information to have to understand my role with the reintegration of juveniles placed in our system.

I liked the on-line training because I could complete it at my own pace, and it gave me plenty of time to complete the training, while still completing my daily tasks at work.

I enjoyed this training and I do believe that it is an excellent means of learning that should be distributed to all juvenile probation officers so they are informed on these often tricky policies and procedures.

TO REGISTER FOR THIS COURSE:

Go to www.elc-pa.org/jpo. (This course is designed to be viewed with Internet Explorer version 6 or higher, with JavaScript and Flash enabled. You can participate from any computer which has Internet access. If you have difficulty accessing the course or navigating through it, please contact Jennifer Lowman at the Education Law Center at 215-238-6970 ext. 312 or by e-mail at jlowman@elc-pa.org.)

A Note about the Hard Copy Version of the Educational Aftercare & Reintegration Toolkit for Juvenile Justice Professionals:

The on-line version of this training course is not identical to the hard copy version of the Educational Aftercare & Reintegration Toolkit for Juvenile Justice Professionals. The material presented in both versions is the same, but the manner of presentation is not identical. In particular, some of the Tools in the on-line version may be numbered differently than the Tools in the hard copy version of the Toolkit.

All juvenile probation officers should have received a hard copy of the Educational Aftercare & Reintegration Toolkit for Juvenile Justice Professionals (2009 ed.). If you do not have a copy of the 2009 Toolkit, a copy can be downloaded at: <http://www.elc-pa.org/pubs/downloads%202009/juvenilejusticetoolkit.pdf> or <http://www.modelsforchange.net/publications/225>.

Attention Supervisors:

Are your officers performing to their potential?

Are you doing all that you can to help them succeed?

*Probation officers have so little time with clients!
They need tools to help them change behaviors using evidence-based practices in short interactions.*

Equipping Supervisors to Maximize Officer Effectiveness

Nationally known consultant and highly sought after trainer, Mark Carey, will lead this ten-hour seminar in State College on March 24-25. This is the only supervisory training opportunity in the CJJT&R Spring 2010 Staff Development Schedule. It is the first installment of a two-part workshop that will be presented. Part two will be held in the fall of this year.

This is a cutting edge training opportunity that is expressly designed for probation department supervisors. In many of our counties Chief's also have responsibility for supervising direct service staff. The workshop gets at the specific competencies that supervisors need to coach your staff in the effective use of the evidence based practices that are the key to reducing recidivism. As the full program description recounts, supervisors may well be the lynchpin in marshalling the talents of your agency's officers to effectively perform the research-based, most essential tasks that line officers need to change offender behavior.

If you are already registered for this workshop we look forward to seeing you in State College next month. If you had not seen this training opportunity we would urge you to review the description and please consider attending. If you glanced at the description and passed over it we would urge you to reconsider.

An affiliate of the County Commissioners Association of Pennsylvania

February 24, 2010

The Juvenile Detention Centers' Association of Pennsylvania (JDCAP) extends an open invitation to all interested persons to participate in a panel discussion on "The Future of Juvenile Detention."

The panel discussion will occur on Thursday, April 1, 2010, from 10:00AM to 12:30PM at the County Commissioners Association North Office and lunch will be provided immediately following the panel discussion. This event will also be broadcast by webinar to various Pennsylvania juvenile justice stakeholders.

The purpose of this panel discussion will be to provide an overview of the current trends impacting juvenile detention, as well as to develop strategies for assuring that detention professionals move forward in a way that best meets the needs of youth and communities. As the juvenile justice system has been experiencing fewer referrals (fewer arrests), more effective use of detention alternatives, and improved expediency in finding services when youth are temporarily detained, the result has been both a decreasing number of referrals and/or decreasing lengths of stay in detention. However, it remains critical to ensure accessibility and excellence in service delivery when detention is required.

JDCAP looks forward to engaging various experts in the field in a discussion geared towards protecting the future. We hope to have appropriate representation for the various stakeholders, so please respond to this invitation by contacting me at wbear@pacounties.org or (717) 232-7554.

Thank you

Sincerely,

Wayne R. Bear

THE HONORABLE JOHN B. LEETE BECOMES SENIOR JUDGE: POTTER COUNTY GETS NEW PRESIDENT JUDGE

The Honorable John B. Leete was confirmed by the Administrative Office of the Pennsylvania Courts as Senior Judge in December 2009. Having been sworn into office on February 19, 1988, Judge Leete spent the next twenty-two years fulfilling his responsibility to the people of Potter County and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by applying the Rule of Court, case law and statutes in a fair and impartial manner.

Upon completing his legal studies at the University of Pittsburgh, Judge Leete served with Neighborhood Legal Services in Allegheny County before returning to Potter County to establish a successful private practice.

During his tenure on the bench, Judge Leete has served several terms on the Juvenile Court Judges' Commission. He is recognized as having made a personal commitment to the advancement, safety and well being of each of the youth who have appeared before him. In addition, he has served as a member of the Pennsylvania Bar Association, American Bar Association, Pennsylvania Conference of State Trial Judges, Rotary International and other local organizations.

Likewise, Judge Leete became active in the Yellow Ribbon Teen Suicide Prevention Program, assisting in the acquisition of a $75,000.00 grant to aid in teen suicide prevention in Potter County. He has actively expanded his commitment to the cause of teen suicide prevention in various locations throughout the Commonwealth.

Prior to accepting status as Senior Judge, Judge Leete was an Adjunct Professor of Criminal Justice Administration at Mansfield University, where he admits an effort to recruit quality students into the field of juvenile justice.

On Monday, January 4th, Stephen P. B. Minor was sworn into office as President Judge of the Potter County Court of Common Pleas. A native of Potter County, Judge Minor received a Bachelor's Degree in Regional Planning at Mansfield University. He completed his legal studies at Oral Roberts University in Oklahoma and returned to Pennsylvania, where he spent the next five years at private practice in Washington, PA.

Judge Minor relocated to Potter County and established a private practice in both McKean and Potter Counties for the next eighteen years. For the past fourteen of those years, he served as Juvenile Court Master for the McKean County Court of Common Pleas, presiding over dependency and delinquency hearings.

Judge Minor has been a member of the Pennsylvania Bar Association, Inn Of Courts, Rotary International, Pennsylvania Association for Justice, and McKean/Potter Counties Chapter of the American Red Cross where he served as a member of the Board of Directors and past Chairman.
